Cargo Mishap - South Africa

On August 14, 2024, the Malta-flagged fully cellular containership, CMA CGM BELEM (13,000 TEU), encountered severe weather off the coast of Richards Bay, South Africa, resulting in a significant stow collapse and the loss of 99 containers. In response, South African authorities issued a navigational warning the cargo containers that may be floating at sea. This incident marks the second box spill for the French line off South Africa within a month. In Jul 24, the 18,000 TEU CMA CGM BENJAMIN FRANKLIN lost 40 containers off South Africa's east coast.

IFC IOR Comment. In view of the ongoing attacks in the Red Sea, the majority of vessels are transiting through Cape of Good Hope and avoiding passage through Red Sea. These vessels are experiencing rough seas and heavy weather conditions due to ongoing monsoon season, which is likely to be the cause for cargo mishap.
